Some devices, such as trackers, open a data session and close it each time they send any data. Others, open a session and leave it open for an extended duration and send multiple packets of data.

There is a small data set up fee of about £0.0075 (0.75 of a penny) for each data session. So, where a device is configured to open and close data sessions each time it sends a packet of data, we allow multiple sessions to be opened and closed during a four hour period and only charged one session fee.

If the device is configured to keep a session open for an extended duration, our platform will automatically close and reopen the session and charge one session fee.

Depending on how your device is configured you may see a slight variation on billing from the relevant rate due to sessions being opened and closed by the device or system.

If the device/SIM changes network, due to lack of coverage of signal, this may also close and reopen a session.

Rates correct 1st Oct. 2016 and subject to change without notice. O & E excepted.
